

How to get there by public transport?

IEEE ExCom Meeting and celebration of the 60 years Anniversary of the IEEE German Chapter

Follow the instructions to get a ticket for a trip or better a day ticket in Berlin

Watch out for this kind of ticket machines around the metro or train stations:

Ref.: <https://www.berlin.de/en/public-transportation/1772016-2913840-tickets-fares-and-route-maps.en.html>

Buying Tickets

Tickets for public transport can be purchased at the multilingual ticket machines located on the platforms of S-Bahn and subway stations. On buses, fares are paid to the bus driver, on trams at the ticket machines inside the trains. In larger stations, the S-Bahn and the BVG also provide ticket counters. Tickets can also be purchased via the free BVG app.

Ticket Fares

Single Ticket: Fare zone AB: €3

24-Hour Single Ticket: Fare zone AB: €8.80

Validating Your Ticket!

Before the journey starts, tickets must be validated by stamping them at the yellow or red boxes located on S-Bahn and subway platforms and inside buses or trams. In case of inspection, a ticket that is not stamped is not valid.